

3 Democrats Enter Representative Race Against Ring, Gott

While they will face no opposition from within their own GOP ranks, the two incumbent State Representatives from Arlington will find their reelection contested next fall by three Democrats.

Representatives Hallam T. Ring and Hollis M. Gott, both Republicans, have filed for renomination and will be unopposed in the September GOP primary.

On the Democratic side, three candidates have filed for the two nominations to be made at the primaries.

The Democratic aspirants are Henry E. Keenan and Joseph S. Vahey, both of whom were candidates two years ago, and a newcomer to the political arena, Joseph Scully of 57 Edmund Rd.

Mr. Keenan, a well known realtor, two years ago received one of the largest votes ever given a Democratic candidate for Representative in this town. He has been active in town affairs 20 years; he is a vice president of the Kiwanis Club and district chairman of the Boy Scouts. He is a member of the City Police and has served as town meeting member and member of the town finance committee.

Mr. Vahey, who also made a good showing two years ago, is an attorney with offices in Boston and Past Post Commander of the V.F.W.

AMVETS Choose 'Miss Arlington'

SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD Mary Emery of 11 Hobbs Court (fourth from bottom), who'll be a senior at Arlington High School next fall, was crowned 'Miss Arlington' at the charter dance of Arlington Chapter, American Veterans of World War II, at town hall Friday night. It was no easy matter for Post Commander Edward J. Reilly and the crowd present to make the selection, for good looks were concentrated in the eight contestants—as shown above. This picture was taken just before the judging, with the girls lined up on a stairway. They are, from left: Jean Taft, Gerry Brideau, Joan Howard (of Cambridge, and thus ineligible), Mary Emery, Claire Deacon, Evelyn Malloy, Isobel Ogden and Melba Tibbetts. Miss Deacon later withdrew, while Miss Tibbetts disappeared and was not on hand for the judging. Commander Reilly is at right, sizing up the beautiful array of contestants. (Photo by Davis)

Reenstierna Named As Fifth Member Of Vets' Housing Board

Torsten H. Reenstierna, an appraiser with offices at 622 Massachusetts Ave., here, his week was appointed as the state's representative on the new Arlington Housing Authority, which is to undertake the construction of low-cost homes for veterans.

Mr. Reenstierna, who becomes the fifth member of the local Authority, was appointed by A. S. Bigelow, director of the State Housing Board. He was sworn in Monday by the assistant town clerk.

With Mr. Reenstierna's appointment, the local board is now ready to hold its organization meeting. This may be delayed, however, by the fact that one of the four members appointed last week by the Town Officials Amazed To Find $50,000 Parking Lot Site Now Is Mortgaged For Total Of $130,000

The old Peirce & Winn Co. property at Mass. Ave. and Mystic St., which the town wants to take over for a parking lot, was last sold for $50,000 but now—surprisingly enough—is mortgaged for a total of $130,000, Town Counsel Russell T. Hamlet told the Press this week.

Facing a court battle early in September to obtain the property for the town at $50,000, Atty. Hamlet said:

"The owner wants all outdoors for the property."

The land and buildings, he said, were mortgaged for $25,000 when they were sold not so long ago for $50,000—at a time when it was more or less certain the township would want it for a parking lot.

The listed purchaser was one Roy Johnston.

Now the property is listed as belonging to one Lillian Y. Rubin of Brookline, and there is outstanding against the land and buildings three mortgages for $35,000 each—a total of $105,000—in addition to the original mortgage of $25,000.

The Press asked Mr. Hamlet: "How could a property worth at sale only $50,000 be mortgaged for almost three times as much?"

Said the town counsel: "That's one of the things I can't profess to be able to explain."

When attorneys for the present owner appear in court, they are expected to argue that a property

Fast Races Thrill 800 At Swim Meet At Reservoir

Eight hundred persons were thrilled by fast, closely contested races staged at Reservoir Beach Friday—in the season's first swim meet.

The smooth style of Judy Anderson and Polly Taylor in the 100-yard freestyle promises a great future for these two young athletes, with Judy finally edging Miss Taylor at the finish to win in one minute and 12 seconds.

Walter and Jack Galvin pulled off a great brother stunt by winning the 50-yard freestyle in their respective age brackets.

There were 48 entries in the boys' 10-12 year old 25 yard freestyle. Robert Knapp was the eventual winner in the final heat with a time of 16 seconds, with Earl Setter second.

This meet was unusual in that there were so many entries for each event. Credit for this goes to Myles McNally, popular swimming

The history of Arlington (first known as Memotomy, and then West Cambridge) goes back to the early days of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The first grist mill in the Bay Colony was erected here; Arlington also had the first free public library in the state. The men of the town answered Paul Revere's call at daybreak, engaged in the heaviest fighting on that memorable day and made the first capture of British men and supplies in the revolution.

Long-Standing Hazard

An accident at a railroad crossing always raises the question as to how safe that particular crossing may be. If someone is killed or seriously injured, it is human to seek someone to blame. The easiest thing, of course, is to criticize the railroad.

In the case of the Swan Place railroad crossing in Arlington Center, where three women narrowly escaped death last week when their car was struck by a freight train, there seems no question on ONE point: This particular crossing is WITHOUT PROTECTION OF ANY KIND.

There are no gates, no warning lights, no bells, no watchman.

Pedestrians and motorists alike must depend upon their sense of sight and hearing; they must rely upon locomotive engineers to make plenty of warning noise.

This is certainly not a safe condition, and it is a wonder that the record of accidents at this crossing is not much more serious than it is.

Some time in the future—in five years, maybe—it is hoped to have the track in Arlington Center run UNDERGROUND. Until that day comes, it is definitely hazardous to operate ANY crossing without ANY safeguards whatever.

The Boston and Maine's traffic executives are in a better position than we to say just what these safeguards should be. Offhand, e'd say that it would help a lot if a railroad brakeman was required to get off any train nearing Arlington Center, and WALK AHEAD of the train to the Swan Place Crossing. This would slow up train service somewhat, but it might SAVE LIVES. This very procedure, incidentally, already is being practiced at the Lake St. rail crossing.

Good, Able Men

In selecting the four local appointees for the Arlington Housing Authority, the new agency which is to direct a veterans' housing program here, the selectmen have chosen well.

The four men selected to serve are capable of doing a creditable job. They have among them the practical experience in construction work that is necessary to a successful undertaking, while one of the four has the legal knowledge that the new board needs.

In evaluating the work that these four men subsequently perform, let us remember that they are giving of their time and talents without remuneration. The idea was to appoint four experienced men who have the interest of their community at heart and are sufficiently public-spirited to give freely of their time, and from this standpoint they represent wise selections.

The new Housing Authority will at times be subjected to criticism. That is part of the price of public service.

Likes MTA's New Streamlined Subway Train, But Would Prefer Trackless Trolleys Here

The new soundproofed, air-conditioned train put into operation on the Harvard Sq. subway by the M.T.A. is all very fine, but it would be much faster, trackless trolleys were put into operation between Harvard Square and Arlington Heights, in the opinion of Rupert H. Greenlaw of 46 Mass. Ave.

Says Mr. Greenlaw in a letter to the Press:

"The M.T.A. has come out with a new train, air conditioned, sound proofed, upholstered seats all of which fails to arouse any great enthusiasm on the part of the Arlington riders, now if that select group of M.T.A. transportation planners really wanted to do something for Arlington they would run their Trackless Trolleys, EXPRESS from Harvard Square to the Arlington Line.

It would mean 15 to 20 min.

saved both in and out to ALL Arlington Folk who go to Boston each day. The improvements to Mass. Ave. as a thoroughfare would be tremendous, both for Cambridge and Arlington because it would mean the removal of all loading islands. Trackless trolleys load and unload at the curb.

"Other cities have a double set of dual overhead wires and give their suburban districts express service.

"Arlington should have express service.

"Consider the autoist—How many times have those islands been hit? I counted seven in one day that had had their blinker lights knocked flat, tween North Cambridge and Harvard Sq. How many times has the City of Cambridge been sued for obstructing the street? Did anybody ever collect?"

Eastern Star services were held Saturday evening, with the officers and members of Fraternity Chapter officiating. She was also a member of the White Shrine, Golden Cross, and the Welfare Club of Somerville.

To Repaint Town Hall Auditorium

The town hall auditorium, used as a community social center, is to get a new look.

For the first time in years—so many years, in fact, that Town Hall Custodian James Carmody doesn't recall just how many—the auditorium is to be repainted.

A contract for the work, which involves refinishing all of the wood work, was awarded by the selectmen Monday to the O.L. Lorentzen Co. of Boston, on a low bid of $778.

The contract calls for the work to start no later than Aug. 2, and to be completed by Aug. 31.

Post Office To Issue 3 New Stamps

Within the next few weeks, three new three-cent commemorative postage stamps will be released by the Post Office Department.

The first, honoring William Allen White will be placed on first sale at Emporia, Kansas, on July 31, 1948. Arranged vertically, this new stamp issued in sheets of 70 stamps, will be printed in purple. 75 million William Allen White stamps have been authorized. The central design is a portrait of William Allen White in an oval frame against a colonial background. At the base of portrait is a closed book, scroll quill pen and inkwell, the symbols of authors. The name appears at base of stamp in a narrow panel with white ground. Collectors should send covers to Postmaster, Emporia, Kansas with postal note or money order remittance to cover cost of stamps to be affixed.

A new 3-cent commemorative stamp to mark 100 years of Friendship with Canada will be placed on first sale at the Niagara Falls, N. Y. postoffice on August 2nd.

Issued in sheets of 50 subjects, arranged horizontally, this new stamp will printed in blue and 115 million stamps will be printed.

The central design is the old bridge known as the Niagara Railway suspension bridge. Above the bridge arranged in three lines of dark Gothic lettering is "A Century of friendship United States-Canada 1848-1948". Collectors should send addressed covers to Postmaster, Niagara Falls, N. Y. together with remittance to cover stamps to be affixed to these covers.

The third in this series of stamps is that of the 3-Cent Francis Scott Key Commemorative Stamp to be placed on first sale at Frederick, Md., on August 9th.

Arranged horizontally, printed in red, it will be issued in sheets of 50 subjects and 115 million stamps have been authorized for printing.

It features a portrait of Francis Scott Key in an oval while draped to the right and left sides are the right and left sides are the American flags of the period of 1814 and today, respectively. In the lower left corner is the old Key Home and in lower right is Fort McHenry with lettering on ribbons identifying each. Collectors should send their addressed covers to Postmaster, Frederick, Md.

Personal checks and postage stamps will not be accepted at any of these offices in payment for new stamps to be affixed to covers. In all cases, covers will be machine cancelled and outside covers must not be sent for return of covers.

Postmaster Francis A. Crowley stated that each of these new stamps will be placed on sale at Boston within a few days after their initial date of sale at respective cities noted above.

Mrs. Mae Hamill, formerly of Wyman Terrace, who received a great deal of notice last February when the Press told how she had been feeding the starving ducks during the winter on Spy Pond, has finally established her, "dream house" up in Concord, just off the Turnpike.

Talking with a Press reporter this week, Mrs. Hamill was most enthusiastic about the progress she and her husband, Howard, have made since they moved into their four-room cottage "in the great outdoors" last May.

"We're growing just about every vegetable there is on our five acres," Mrs. Hamill said. "The house and the garden have kept us pretty busy these last few months, but the hardest part is over now."

"I haven't forgotten my ducks back at Spy Pond, though, I plan to return to Arlington sometime soon and get that white duck that was my favorite."

She said she kept in touch regarding the welfare of her former charges through phone conversations with Mrs. William Kelleher, a former neighbor on Wyman Terrace. She said that she still gets her copy of the Press every week and keeps up with the news of her former hometown.

"We have four more dogs now," she said laughingly. "A grand total of six. I still stand by my vow that no stray animal will ever be turned away from our door."

The Hamills' married daughter, Mrs. Mildred Simpson, and her husband recently arrived from St. Louis and are planning to build a "dream house" of their own on the five acres. Next week the Hamills plan to buy 100 chickens. They already have a henhouse and barn on their property.

"After that—well, I'm really not sure," Mrs. Hamill replied when asked what other additions she plans to make. "I guess we'll never stop adding to our dream house; there will always be room for some helpless animal or bird—I'm sure of that."

Burmin Has Star Role In Tufts Play

Kalman Burnim, Tufts sophomore from Revere who has been seen in productions of the Arlington Friends of the Drama, will have the leading role in "All My Sons," Arthur Miller's domestic tragedy about a wartime aircraft manufacturer, which will open at the Tufts Summer Arena Theater Tuesday evening, July 2, for a five night run.

Norman Ashton of West Medford, instructor in drama at the Tufts Summer School, is directing the production. His comedy about Paul Revere, "Listen, My Children," played to capacity houses at Tufts under his direction last summer, and later was produced at Yale.

Careful, There's A Train Coming.....

THE CHILDREN ABOVE don't seem much worried as they walk over the railroad crossing at Swan Place, just off Arlington Center, but from behind that tree at the right a train may come hurtling down on them—as a freight train last week DID come crashing into an auto containing three women. There's not a single sign indicating that these tracks are in use; there's no warning light or signal. Pedestrians and motorists alike must rely on an approaching train making plenty of noise. This photo shows the location of the unprotected crossing, opposite the Stop and Shop store. To the left, outside the picture, is the main Arlington Center crossing.

I Wonder?

I WONDER when the railroad tracks in Arlington Center will be moved under ground?

I WONDER who's referred to in Arlington as "Old Skinfint"?

I WONDER who it is who enjoys watching for and noting down every typographical error we make, and if he knows that even the Boston papers have many of them?

I WONDER if James R. Smith is thinking of running for Board of Public Works again next Spring?

I WONDER when they'll hold that exam for permanent fire chief, and if the acting chief hasn't a good chance of keeping the job?

I WONDER why the fireman who became engaged this week is so blushing bashful, and if he realizes he's picked a rather wonderful girl as his bride-to-be?

I WONDER how Angus MacDonald's brand new Packard stood up on his trip to Elmira, N. Y., to visit his daughter?

I WONDER if John Coelach, treasurer and roster par excellence of the Legion juniors ballplayers, realizes the team would get more publicity if it played on any night but Wednesday?

I WONDER if it's just an accident that four of the five members of the new Housing Authority are registered Republicans?

I WONDER how Joan will like Winchester?

I WONDER where Anne was when the lights went out?

I WONDER how Lieut. Ryan enjoyed being a beauty contest judge?

I WONDER if Chris Finlayson of Chandler St. really means it when he says that horse-car service years ago, from Boston to Arlington, was faster than the present service?

I WONDER if "Miss Arlington" isn't cute enough to win the AMVETS state beauty contest?

I WONDER if Mailman Roger Ormes and his best half didn't make a pretty picture at the AMVETS' dance?

Library Club In Summer Program

At the second meeting of the Everyland Club at the Dallin branch library last Thursday, with 43 members in attendance, readings were given by Patricia Day, Gloria McDevitt, Marguerite Vincent, Beverley Young and Phyllis Young.

The same group presented dramatized song titles, while Mary Wallace gave harmonica solos. There are already several names on the reading honor roll, and "book characters" are being prepared for a house party.

The children are enjoying the pleasant and cool atmosphere of the branch library as they draw, paint and develop characters from the books they read. At the next meeting, Peter and Stephen Bartocci will be in charge of games. Ted Gross plans a stunt for the boys, while Margaret Duffy, Phyllis Kane and Barbara Mandis will do some song titles.

Attempt At House Break

A house burglary is believed to have been attempted Sunday night at 53 Webster St., where a screen on a bedroom window found tampered with, according to report made to police.

Bombers Top Standings In Softball Units

Last week softball activity featured the first No. Hit, No Hit, No Run, game ever pitched in Arlington's Softball history. This perfect game was pitched by Walter Ludka, famous Elk pitcher, whose speed is the enigma of all opposing teams.

Only two men reached base for the Downing A. C. during Ludka's perfect game. Earlier this season with tow men out in the ninth inning, the Kiwanis Club spoiled a perfect game by hitting a scratch single.

Need More Money To Pay For 'Iron Lung' Before It Can Be Given To Town

The portable "iron lung" that the Arlington AMVETS chapter had intended to present Friday to the police and fire departments for the use of anyone in Arlington, could not be presented as scheduled—for the very sufficient reason that an insufficient sum of money has been raised.

Commander Edward J. Reilly of the local post told the Press this week:

"No one is more disappointed than we are, but we can't present to the town something that isn't paid for. We still need a few hundred dollars, and I certainly hope there will be further donations.

"Certainly, this iron lung is something that is needed. No one knows who will suddenly be in need of it, or whose life it will save. I urge anyone who appreciates its worth to mail a donation to the AMVETS P. O. Box 206, Arlington, so that we can complete the job we set out to do."

Commander Reilly also urged attendance at the AMVETS' big charity night dance to be held tomorrow, Friday, at the Boston Garden, with Tony Pastor's orchestra and many other attractions.

A television set to be awarded by the local post on shares also is slated to be given at the Boston dance.

I WONDER how "Eddie Farvia" likes his job?

I WONDER how Eddy likes his job.

Permits are as follows: Boston Development Corporation, duplex houses at 59-61, 63-65, 67-69, 71-73, and 75 77 Sunnyside Ave., at an estimated cost of $10,000 apiece. Total cost, $50,000.

Robert E. Bessette, one-family dwelling at 22 Rockmont Rd., cost $7,000; Alfred Valley, one-family dwelling with garage at 6 Heard Rd., $7,000.

The Park Department has been issued a permit to erect bleachers for Warren A. Pierce Field at a cost of $1200.

Other permits are as follows: Flynn Roofing Co., reroof dwelling at 156 Pleasant St., cost $220; John F. Foley, construct addition to first floor side porch at 259 Lake St., cost $500; Peter F. Rossi, erect pump house at 30 Mill St., cost $2,000; Parker Hayden, addition to rear of garage at 25 Bow St., cost $300.

Parking Lot...

(Continued from page one) mortgaged for $130,000 is obviously worth more than the $50,000 the town of Arlington wants to pay for it.

The town appropriated $58,000 to acquire the property, setting aside $50,000 for the actual purchase under eminent domain proceedings.

Mr. Hamlin said this week that, having started these proceedings, the towns cannot now withdraw but must pay whatever amount the court deems fair. The owner has not indicated any particular figure. "A case of this sort might, of course, be settled out of court," he remarked, "but in this instance there appears scant likelihood of a settlement."

Meanwhile, the development of the parking lot is being held up. The selectmen last week were preparing to ask for bids for razing the vacated buildings on the land, but on advice of the town counsel decided to wait first and see how the court battle came out.

The case is expected to be among the first to be reached when court reconvenes in September.

At Cemetery Street, Ellen Marie Wilson, age 5, took top honors in singing contest with her rendition of "Because I Love You, Mother Dear". Helen Fitzgerald age 7, sang "Soldier Boy" for second place honors while Sonya Stangbee came in third with her son, "Turkey in the Straw". In costume show Danny Kennedy, age 4, received the greatest applause dressed as a woman. He had quite a time parading around the playground in his mother's high-heeled shoes. Jackie Markey, dressed as a "Hula Hula" girl, came in second. Other awards went to Clarie Kern as a Southern Belle and Nancy Rowe dressed as "Little Red Riding Hood".

The Ethel Wellington Midget Baseball Team began a very promising season by playing a 7-7 tie with Cutter. The Juniors beat the West 7-3, sparked by two home runs by Fred Kranefuss. The costume show climaxed a very active week. Over 100 children voted Jane Bowser the prettiest, Roberta Spencer the funniest and Steve O'Shea, brandishing a bow and arrow, the most original. Ronnie Nigro retained his title again this year as checker champ. Herbie Stingel and the Wessenger brothers were the weekly horseshoe champs and Rita Hefron and "Woodchuck" Rousakis were Ping Pong champs.

At Waldo Road, several children went to Linwood playground last Wednesday and enjoyed a nutrition lecture by Mrs. Dorothy Peirce of the Red Cross. Friday afternoon 25 children participated in the costume show. Alice Ronayne, age 12, David Gavel 12, Gail Anderson 4 1-2, Barbara Silva 11, Ritchie Femia 10 and Eddie Zee, 9, won top honors in costumes ranging from old fashioned ladies to gypsies. Cutter School

At Cutter School last Wednesday the accurate pitching of Dave Beaton, who averaged three ringers per game, enabled him to win the horseshoe elimination tournament. A week-long table tennis tournament was won by Schuyler Taylor, age 12. Wilfred Bonney, 6, showed promise as a future checker champ in a masquerade contest Thursday. Larry Murray and Susan Foster won first prize for the funniest and most original mask. The costume show won by Barbara Waters tiest and most original costumes. and Marcia Beaton for the prettiest.

At Crosby School the annual costume show proved a great success. Alice Furlong Gloria Cahaly and Myrna Shaw judged the pretty pink ballet costume worn by Lucille Manoli as the prettiest costume. Harold Howell was the funniest with his curlytailed monkey suit. Judy Simpson and Jimmy Fantano were voted the most original with their old-fashioned bathing suit and baseball suit, respectively. Hardy School

At Hardy playground, Jacky Powers and Paul Lynch took tops honos for their clown duel during the costume show. Both boys were stuffed with balloons and had pins on the ends of their swords. The results were obvious. Florence Ave.

At Florence Avenue two baseball games were played against Robbins Farm. Both the Midgets and Juniors lost, but for the present these losses will be charged up to the hot weather. There were 34 contestants in the costume show. Winners were Rosemary Murphy, as a ballet dancer; Tommy McHugh, as Huck Finn; Judy Goodough, as a fortune teller; Henry Gordon, as Moon Mullins, and Mary Griffin as Aunt Jemima. Jr. High West

At the Junior High West, the amusing show put on by Billy and Bernie McSweeney stole the show during the costume parade. Bernie, age 6, was dressed as a black alley rat and was chased all over the area by his brother, dressed as the old "Tom Cat". Linwood St.

At Linwood playground, Jackie Sefton, age 9, took time out to give even the instructors a lesson in playing checkers. On Thursday morning the children especially enjoyed the story telling hour with Jean Rodinson, 10, helping out as a story teller. The children acted as host to Mrs. Dorothy Peirce of the Red Cross, who lectured to the many children and their parents on the proper way to pack a picnic lunch and the Costume show Friday afternoon.

Activities at all playgrounds last week were highlighted by the costior Baseball Leagues are warming time shows. The Midget and Junup to a bitterly fought schedule. The Midget games are especially so to be prepared at home because and many late lunches have had Johnny couldn't leave the game with the score tied 18 all when 12 o'clock struck.

4-H Girls Enter Talent Hunt

Photographs of members of 4-H Clubs in more than 30 states are pouring in to Hollywood offices of Glenn McCarthy Productions as a nationwide search is begun for a girl Club member to participate in a forthcoming film, "The Green Promise."

Above, Robert Paige and Monty Collins, co-producers of the film, are looking over one day's mail. Paige, star of many Hollywood productions, will enact the role of an agricultural extension agent in the film, which portrays the life of a farm family. Collins is author of the original story and has written many other successful screen plays.

The girl chosen for the part must be not more than 12 years old and must be a regularly enrolled member of a 4-H Club. Four girls will be selected from the photographs submitted, one from each of four sections of the United States. The four will be taken to Hollywood for screen tests and final selection made following those tests.

"The Green Promise" will emphasize the importance of soil conservation and the great value of 4-H Club work in the struggle of a farm family to a higher standard of living. Participation of club members in the talent search has been approved by national extension headquarters and the state offices in the states where the search is being conducted.

The film will be produced by a new independent company formed by Glenn McCarthy, Houston, Texas, industrialist who has a keen interest in better farm living and better farming methods.

I WONDER if Robert D'Unger hasn't set up a creditable record during the ten years he's faithfully served the Arlington Legion Post

I WONDER if someone who lost is welcome to call for them?

Hunt 'Peeping Tom'

A bold peeping tom raised a ladder to a bedroom window at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Neves, at 88 Oxford St., Sunday night.
The ladder, which was taken from the back yard, was placed against a window of the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Neves' two daughters.
One of the girls thought she heard a scraping noise, but neither of them thought much about it until Monday morning when the ladder was found leaning against the first-floor window at the side of the house.

It was the peeping tom's second appearance at the Neves home.
This time, he left footprints, and police are trying to track them down.

-- What It Means Here

Note: This is one of the first in a series of articles informing the people of Arlington as to the eight participating Red Feather agencies, and their functions throughout the year. The eight participating agencies are: The Arlington District Nursing Association, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Arlington Social Service League, Boys' Club, St.
Vincent De Paul Society and the St. James Womens' Guild.
Sachem Council Boy Scouts

Sachem Council Boy Scouts of America have their main headquarters in Arlington at 729 Masachusetts Avenue. Arlington is a district in the Council set up and it is fortunate in having the central headquarters located in this town. The council is under the supervision and direction of Phil Johnson, Scout Executive. He has two assistant field men—Chester Duval and Warren Morang. Mrs. Everett Adams and Mrs. Charlotte Larson are the full time secretaries at the office.

Money received from the Community chest pays the operating expenses of the council office. At present there are 14 Scout troops in the town, 9 Cub packs and 4 senior units which services approximately 800 boys in the town in various capacities of Scouting.
There are approximately 200 volunteer leaders in Arlington known as Scouters which are composed of Den Mothers, Cub Masters, Scout Masters, Senior Leaders and their committees.

These public-spirited citizens devoted considerable time to teaching the boy Scouting requirements. The Arlington District volunteer personnel who head up the district are Henry E. Keenan, Chairman; W.
head of publicity; Horace H. Homer, District Commissioner; Harold Anderson, Chairman of Advancement; Harold Slater, Chairman of Organization and Extension; Willis Munroe and Frank Doran, co-chairman camping; Norris Hoyt, Fin-nance; Edward Parr and Charles Armour, Cubbing; Dr. L. Curtis
Foye, Health and Safety; James

J. Rourke, Jr., Leadership Training. Working with the other volunteer leaders, this group bring the Scouting program to the boys of Arlington.

The neighborhood commissioners serving under Horace Homer, Lawrence Corcoran, Richard Shaw, Charles Buckingham, Richard Tolcott, Major John Taylor, Philip Alison and Bruce Young.

Sachem Council owns and operates several camping areas within the district. The largest of these is Camp Oak, Bedford, Mass. At the present time this camp is undergoing extensive improvements under the supervision of the Camp Oak Development Committee with morrises recently made available under the Thompson Fund.

Continuation of the program for the scouts in Arlington is depending upon the funds made available through the community chest which receives its money from the Red Feather Community Fund. The 1949 campaign will get underway shortly after Labor Day. All persons interested in scouting are asked to cooperate in this drive to make it a financial success in order to carry on the good work done by the scouts and their leaders in Arlington.

Peek-A-Boo Days Call For Extra Care Of Baby's Skin During Out-Of-Door Periods

The ups and downs of early summer temperatures, and the peek-a-boo habits of Ole Sol himself won't wreak havoc with small fry if Mothers are on guard.

Even if the day seems warm as you start your daily walk, take along an extra sweater just in case of sudden weather changes. The sun is apt to cloud up in a jiffy and chill your youngster.

Cherub's jaunts should always be preceded by protective skin care—a patting of hands, wrists, cheeks and chin with baby lotion, a snowy white emulsion of mineral oil and lanolin with an antiseptic ingredient added for greater protection. You'll use that, too, when you make baby's diaper switch just before you take him out.
It's important not to neglect these protective measures even on gloomy days, because the sun peeking out from behind clouds now and then may be strong enough to burn baby's tender skin.

Outing hours can be largely decided by the state of the weather but, of course, you won't want to take baby out immediately after his bath, nor until an hour after his feeding.
As you embark on the 1948 sun tan program, make the first sunning a one-minute exposure front and back, increasing the time gradually until the tot is getting a twenty minute sunbath, back and front, every bright day. Always, even when he is getting the full-time sunning, shade his eyes during the in-the-sun period.
And the first time you put the little one out in a play pen barefooted give both feet and legs a generous rubbing with lotion.
It helps insure baby's comfort in the sun. Rubbing in the excess on your hands is a beauty bonus for your skin, too.

2 Local Boys Picked To Play In All-Star Game This Saturday

Arlington will again be represented this year in the Greater Boston vs New England All Stars annual baseball game at Braves Field under the lights, this Saturday night.

Tom Coughlin, young High School pitcher, has been chosen along with Charles Cadario, catcher, who was on the Greater Boston squad last year.

Braves Scouts Fred Maguire and Hal Goodnough, were amazed at the number of promising ball players they found here. These scouts

St. Agnes Edged 4-3

At Trum field, Somerville, the St. Agnes C. Y. O. Intermediates were edged recently by the home-owners, St. Ann, in a game which ended 4-3.

St. Agnes scored a run in the first on Frank Randoni's single but three runs on two hits in St. Ann's second set them back. They fought to regain two runs in the fourth, one being Ed Murphy's home run, but were unable to score again. In the meantime, after the first three men had banded singles in St. Ann's third, "Moose" Carey was replaced by Tom Coughlin. A fielders choice forced in the first of three hitters for the winning run but the hometowners did not cross the plate again.

In two innings and three batters of the third, Carey gave up five hits, and one strike out Coughlin in the remaining four innings allowed two hits, and struck out seven, as Smith, St. Ann's winning pitcher, went the seven inning distance to yield four hits, seven walks and to strike out twelve.

Over 200 youngsters from the various Arlington playgrounds attended the children's concerts held at the Esplanade in Boston, on Wednesdays, July 14 and 21st.

The music was appreciated by all, especially when the band played pieces which had been studied by the children in school.

After the concert the children enjoyed a picnic lunch along the shore of the Charles River, and then toured the Boston Public Gardens and the State House.

A nine-year-old Lexington boy was injured while at Reservoir Beach Friday.

Police, informed by Lifeguard McNally that an injured boy was at the beach, found that Herbert Haigh, 9, of 30 Arcola St., Lexington, had injured his side while playing with another boy. He was removed to Symmes Hospital for treatment.

350 Attend Sons Of Italy Annual Picnic

With about 350 in attendance, the annual family picnic of Arlington Lodge 1343, Sons of Italy, held Sunday at Dave's Picnic Grove in Nashua, N. H., proved one of the most enjoyable on record.

The trip was made in private cars, and sports events during the day included a ball game between married and single men—won by the married men. There were many other games and races, including the usual fat men's race, and suitable prizes were awarded.

Venerable Anthony Covell was in general charge of the committee; directing the sports program were Philbert Pellegrini, Jack Caeciatore and Fred Lacarelli. Others on the general committee included Angelo Miccichi, Benjamin Benidadi, Vin Locayne, Sal Caministraro, Michael Lionetta, Palmer Guarante, Jack Mattalliano and Frank Tortorici.

Parking Meters Yield $330 Weekly Collection

An average of some 100 summonses a week are now being handed out to motorists who park without first depositing coins in parking meters, or who over-park, Police Chief Archie F. Bullock said this week.

However, the chief added, the number of summonses is already rapidly declining and "should be substantially less in a very short time."

As a whole, he said, the parking meters are working out well.

On the financial side of the ledger, the 300 meters now installed are yielding about $330 weekly —half of which the town retains, the remainder going to defray the cost of the meters and their installation.

Car Crashes Into Traffic Signal Pole

Losing control of his car at 10 a. m. Sunday, a Somerville motorist crashed into a traffic light pole at Mystic St., and Mystic Valley Pkwy.

The driver, John Miles, of 188 Bartlett St., Somerville, complained of injuries to both knees and forehead. The car was so badly damaged it had to be towed away, while the pole itself was bent out of shape.

Were You Puzzled?

MANY a PASSERBY HAS been puzzled by the sight of autos "legally" parked smack up against a fire hydrant in Arlington Center in a space complete with five-cents-an-hour parking meter. For one of the elemental rules impressed upon motorists is: Never park within 10 feet of a hydrant. But the scene depicted above, opposite Hardy's Bakery has—it seems—a simple explanation: the hydrant is a low-pressure outlet, seldom used. Fire department officials explain that in fighting fires in Arlington Center they use only high-pressure hydrants, which are painted red. Thus it isn't necessary that this particular hydrant be quickly accessible, and the curbing where it sets can properly give up its share of parking pennies and nickels.

Arlington's program to cope with the juvenile problem was hailed Sunday by two outside newspapers—the Boston Herald and the New York Times.

Both newspapers praised the police chief and police department for keeping youngsters here busy through activities of the Arlington Youth Association, sponsored by the Arlington Auxiliary Police Association.

Said the Boston Herald, in an article by W. E. Playfair:

"They have proved in Arlington that a busy youngster doing something he likes isn't going to get into trouble."

Boasting the best record in juvenile delinquency for any community of its size in the state, the town gives much of the credit to its unique youth recreation program engineered by Police Chief Archie F. Bullock and the Arlington Auxiliary Police Association, Inc.

This program, in operation since 1944, has attracted nationwide attention and has been copied elsewhere—but not with the same success. Since a prophet has no honor in his own country, it must be said that the Arlington plan has aroused less interest among its immediate neighbors than farther afield.

Clearly remembering his own stirring boyhood—"I guess I must have caused a little trouble sometimes"—Chief Bullock is convinced that it is up to his police to "occupy the minds of the kids as long as they are young"—and that means between the dangerous ages of 13 and 16. So Arlington has its baseball league—two of them, in fact—Friday evening dances at the Town Hall, a junior rifle club and to reorganize and incorporate under a "magic club". All of them have paid off.

Play Not Final Solution

Like many thoughtful observers, the Arlington chief knows that play is not the final solution to the juvenile delinquency problem. There was a time when teen-age children had work to do, jobs to fill, and when parents took their responsibilities a little more seriously than now, and he deplores the shift in social conditions that keeps the young dependent until they are 18 or 21, and permits them to roam the streets idly.

"We are doing this only as a fill-in," he says. "Work is the best thing in the world to keep the young out of mischief. But so long as the 9000 youngsters in this town from school age up to 21, are not working, we must try to keep them occupied, teach them something useful, pass on to them something of the spirit of fair play and citizenship."

It was with this idea in mind that when the auxiliary police unit of 300 citizens disbanded after the war Chief Bullock requested the der Massachusetts law to work with the youth of the town. This came about the Arlington Aux. Police Association, Inc., devoted not only to preventing delinquency, but to "building character and better citizenship among our young people."

Trained volunteers from the Auxiliary supervise the various activities. William Sinclair, for example, is the "Happy Chandler" of the baseball leagues. Jack Keefe and other Auxiliary members, with the aid of a paid matron, supervise the dances, which attract more than 1000 teen-agers. Tom Morgan heads the Rifle Club and Walter Taylor takes care of the magic.

Talk Of The Town

Right now baseball is the talk of the town, and that applies to adults as well as kids. With sure understanding of boy psychology, the sponsors have seen to it that the two leagues—junior, age 12 to 14, and senior, 14 to 16—each have eight teams named for the real big leaguers—Red Sox, Yankees, Braves, Giants and the rest. Each team carries a roster of 15, a total of 240 players.

There is a formal opening of the season in May, at which a town official throws out the first ball, and uniforms, bats, balls and other equipment are standard—and free. Paid umpires officiate at all the games, and the competition is terrific. You'd better not get into an argument in mid-July as to who will win either pennant or the "world series" to follow. It's controversial in Arlington.

The Rifle Club, open to girls as well as boys, was the first junior club in the country to be chartered under the National Rifle Association of Washington, D. C. Membership is restricted because of the limited capacity of the police rifle range. The Magic Club, for those 12 and 13 years of age, is another popular feature. Here children are taught all kinds of tricks for their own edification and that of others.

Incidentally, Arlingtonians are rather proud of the fact that the Friday dances have developed an orchestra—the Arcadians—which is in wide demand and voted one of the best dance orchestras in the area.

Reflect The Parents

All of this costs money, about $10,000 a year, to be exact, but the town taxpayers do not foot a penny of the bill. Every year 11,000 letters go out over the signature of the police chief, and donations come back ranging from $1 to $50. The 50-cent membership fee and collections at ball games make up the balance to pay for uniforms and everything else.

Of course, this is regarded as quite a bargain by the town, but somebody has to do a lot of work and this means Chief Bullock and the Auxiliary. Close contact between the latter group and the regular force is always maintained, the liaison man at present being Patrolman Charles Scannell who as co-ordinator carries on all the detail work.

Chief Bullock isn't being fooled any as to the real causes of juvenile delinquency. In his experience, the actions of the child in almost every case reflect the training by parents or lack thereof. And he notes that children whose older brothers, who normally kept an eye on them, were absent in the services, or whose mothers worked in war plants, are now "getting into trouble."

He thinks it would be a good plan to concentrate on the study of the for the parent-teacher associations proper training for children through their growing stage, to help in shaping their later lives. He thinks a lot about children, having four of his own, a daughter and three sons.

The sports idea is a "natural" with him, too. As a kid he went in for track, baseball and football, and he can still go round the Winchester golf course in the low 80's. It's a tough course, too.
